

EFRAG SEEKS TWO PROJECT MANAGERS

EFRAG is seeking two full time Project Managers.

The role involves both pro-active and reactive work in the development of International Financial Reporting Standards for use in Europe. The Project Manager will work with the Technical Director, the Assistant Technical Director and a team of Project Managers in preparing papers for discussion by EFRAG's Technical Expert Group in responding to proposed IFRS and IFRIC interpretations as well as preparing papers for discussion with EFRAG TEG and IASB in connection with possible future standards to be developed by the IASB.

The successful candidates will have a good knowledge of International Accounting Standards and will work on different projects. They should ideally have experience of technical accounting work or standard setting in Europe and have a good understanding of relevant differences between accounting thought in Europe and the thinking of the IASB/FASB. A good knowledge of English is essential. The salary level will reflect the particular experience and is comparable to manager level in accounting firms.

If you are interested in working with a technical organisation in an international and friendly environment, please send your application to Stig Enevoldsen, Chairman of EFRAG, at stig@efrag.org with cc info@efrag.org. The e-mail subject should read 'Application – EFRAG Project Manager'.
